ALMA MATER

Dear Bucknell, oft of thee we're thinking,
And memories fond come trooping by;
The tireless stars may cease their blinking,
But thoughts of thee shall never die.
And tho' the years steal swiftly o'er us,
And winter comes with biting sting,
Our hearts with youth's undaunted chorus,
Shall e'er with praise of Bucknell ring.

We burn the incense of affection,
As in the sacred fanes we meet,
While down the isles of recollection,
Comes thronging forms we love to meet,
And though life's bitter storm sweep o'er us,
And pleasures bide on fleeting wing,
Our hearts shall blend in loving chorus,
When Alma Mater's praise we sing.

To thee we swear our proud allegiance,
Thy loyal sons are we, and true.
Nor time, nor tide, nor fortune's pageants,
Shall daunt the Orange and the Blue.
Then with thy glory e'er before us,
Our loving tribute we will sing,
And once again in hearty chorus,
Thy praise, dear Bucknell, we will sing.

ROBERT LEE SUTHERLAND

DEDICATION

In these days of rapidly changing educational as well as economic and social values, it becomes increasingly difficult for youth to know where to anchor its faith and when to throw overboard what is only of temporary worth. In such circumstances we feel exceptionally fortunate in finding men who progress without becoming radical, who have wisdom without conceit, and judgment without bias.

Bucknell has such a man, and so, as an indication of our gratitude for his understanding in our problems, and in appreciation of his aid, we gratefully dedicate this book to

"Thou hast the secret strange
To read that hidden book, the human heart;
Thou hast the ready writer's practised art;
Thou hast the thought to range
The broadest circle intellect hath ran—
And thou art God's best work—an honest man."

—From Willis's poems

ROOM-MATES

When campus days are ended, and with textbooks you are thru,
When thoughts of school are blended in a sort of hazy hue,
There's someone you'll remember, as old grads always do.
It's the person who once consented to live awhile with you—

Yep, your room-mate.

Who, while you went to classes, would just go sleeping thru?
Who constantly would wear your clothes, whether old or new?
Who used up all the stamps and ink, and borrowed all your dough?
Who gave your notes before exams, to his or her best beau?

Yep, your room-mate.

Who told you how to win your sweetie, then knew best why you lost?
Who stuck by you thru thick and thin, no matter what the cost (to you)?
Who always was out datin' while over books you'd snore?
Who never seemed to crack a book, yet got five B's or more?

Yep, your room-mate.

YET, who was the fellow or the girl who always stood so near?
Whose words of seeming wisdom would quiet all your fears?
Who overlooked your many faults, and flattered all your talents?
Who seemed to you, in the scales of fate, to be your perfect balance?

Yep, your room-mate.

The Infirmarys

Dr. Lester P. Fowle
University Physician

The men's and women's infirmaries at Bucknell rank with the finest on any college campus in the East.

There is a combined force of seven persons, including Dr. Lester P. Fowle, the university physician. Regular hospital care and diet are given to students who are admitted. This group numbered one hundred eighty-three men and eighty-six women during the 1937-38 school year. In addition there are about two thousand minor ailments treated each month among the students.

In serious cases parents are notified, and emergencies requiring surgery are cared for at the nearby Giesinger Hospital in Danville.

For the present school year about $1500 was spent for new infirmary equipment, aside from supplies.

Dormitory Counselors

Student counseling is a relatively new program at Bucknell, having been instituted during the 1937-38 term. The student counselors are chosen by a committee consisting of Dean Rivenburg, Dr. Sutherland, Dean of Men, Forrest Brown, Secretary of the C.A., and Paul Benson, Instructor in Mathematics, and head counselor.

The general purpose of the organization is to try and integrate the students new to Bucknell with the goings-on about campus, to aid them in academic work, and to promote cooperation in uniform regulations as regards dormitory life.

Starting with Freshman Week, when the neophytes are first exposed to the Bucknell way of living, they are carried thru the entire year with a series of activities which include: picnics, dances, movies, and more or less organized "bull sessions," all being conducted with the idea of instilling in the men Bucknell ideals.

The men behind the scenes of Bucknell's everyday life

Maintenance Corps

In September, 1938, Bucknell's ever-expanding crew of maintenance workers moved into its new supplies building between the women's gymnasium and the power plant.

This group of "men behind the scenes," since 1937, has been ably headed by Professor Burpee, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds. There are on an average about seventy men on the payroll, with a peak of approximately one hundred and ten being employed in the early fall.

The new building is a three story structure with space for storing all janitorial supplies as well as other university equipment. There are several rooms devoted to specific needs: a carpenter shop, a paint shop, and a pipe and plumbing supplies room. The ground floor serves as a garage for the trucks owned by the university.

The Library

"The heart of the college," the library has often been called, and at Bucknell this is ever the case. During the year 1938-39 the Library was brought up to date in its card system, and many improvements were made in stepping up the efficiency of the organization under its new head, Mr. Hayden. Several hundred volumes were added to its shelves.

Faculty Advisory Council

During the present academic year, the Faculty Advisory Council has given its attention to matters that are of interest to the faculty as a whole. Committee members received from their respective groups, suggestions of topics suitable for discussion by the faculty. After preliminary consideration by the committee, these topics were discussed at the regular meetings of the faculty.

Among the phases considered were: the policy on admissions, the withdrawal of students because of scholastic difficulties, and the status of graduate work in the university's program.

Particular attention was given to the educational policy at Bucknell, and there was much discussion of ways in which the quality of instructional work may be improved.

CLASS OF '39

Four short years ago Bucknell was faced with the loss of its president, the deepest snowfall within memory, the biggest flood in the history of the town, one of the worst fires the local folk have yet known, and a new class of freshmen numbering over three hundred strong.

"The President Marts' Class," as the class of '39 has come to be known, (since the present beloved head of Bucknell came to office almost simultaneously) approaches graduation with approximately two hundred and seventy-five of its original members.

In the short span of undergraduate days the seniors have seen Old Main rebuilt, the center section of Davis Gymnasium completed, a new wing to the Engineering building begun, the remodeling of Tustin Gymnasium for the women, the instituting of a Senior Honor House, a new Supplies Building constructed, and a general "face-lifting" of campus landscaping. In such a whirlwind of accomplishment they cannot help but be caught by the spirit of achievement which accompanies it, and so, eager and equipped, the class of 1939 faces commencement, and then, the future.

CLASS OF '40

In September, 1936, there arrived on the Bucknell Campus item number four of Bucknell's New President Marts' program as stated the previous November. Item four had read, "to obtain next fall the largest class in the history of the school," without sacrificing quality to get it.

The class of '40 numbered approximately three hundred and fifty students, and entered the institution during its ninetieth anniversary year. Since that time it has grown and expanded and now includes some of the most outstanding students in the university.

In the realm of the social the Juniors reverted to the policy of name bands for its class dances, and, as Sophomores, had the Hudson-Delange aggregation for the affair. As the yearbook nears its deadline, the Juniors near their prom, annually the biggest social event on the orange and blue calendar. For this dance, which augers well to break records, the Casa Loma music of Glen Gray is slated to be heard.

In the current school year L'Agenda underwent the most drastic reorganization of its history. An office was installed and equipped in the East Wing of Old Main, and the new staff began its duties early in October.

The forty-ninth edition of L'Agenda is a departure from the usual, inasmuch as informality is the keynote of the 1939 book. Room-mates was adapted as a theme, and throughout the volume various couples, who are actually room-mates, representing the various fraternities, sororities, and non-affiliated groups are pictured. The entire layout and art work, complete to the cover design is student work, and undergraduate photography is featured prominently.

In an effort to even better organize the yearbook, a canvass of organization and procedure on other college annuals was made, during the second semester. Thru this study it is hoped Bucknell will profit by having the finest book in her history for the Silver Anniversary Edition in 1940.

An eight-page weekly newspaper stressing campus news and edited entirely by the students, the Bucknellian this year entered its forty-second year of publication. The staff is aided by the journalism students who serve as reporters.

This year was an especially notable one for the Bucknellian. Departing from the former policy of limiting the news to campus events, a summary of the more significant political news was initiated. A column reviewing the latest victrola recordings, and a bi-monthly book review also made their appearance for the first time. A new column which gave the news from other campuses was another addition. Two special features, the column entitled "Cannon Fire," and a weekly sports cartoon, were continued from last year.

The University is justly proud of its newspaper. At the fall convention of the Inter-collegiate Newspaper Association of which it is a member, the Bucknellian was rated second in local advertising, and third in news, sports and editorials. Moreover, it was the only publication of its size to receive a rating in all fields of judging.

This is the handbook with the blue suede cover, which is so indispensable to freshmen and seniors alike.

Through the cooperation of the various departments of the University, the Christian Association unites into one compact booklet a general account of all the campus organizations, clubs, fraternities, athletics, and other Bucknell activities. Along with an introduction to our deans and president, a complete set of the rules and regulations of the University and Women's Student Senate are enumerated.

A tense moment in "The Bishop Misbehaves"

Dagger

One of the most active organizations on any college campus is its dramatic society, and in this Bucknell is no exception. From fall until spring, Cap and Dagger is either planning a production or actually working on it. In addition to five plays, a Patroness Tea and a Tea Dance for Cap and Dagger members were held. Early in the year a series of one-act plays were presented to uncover new talent. The Commencement Play was "Hayfever," the fall season opened with "The Bishop Misbehaves." "Idiot's Delight" climaxed the winter season, and "As You Like It" was given as the Artist's Course Presentation. "Holiday" was put on during the Spring Festival.

Melvin Le Mon
Director

The Men's Glee Club added another chapter in its success story in the school year 1938-39. With more than one hundred candidates to choose from, Professor Le Mon, the director, selected this year what is considered the finest club in the history of the school, and one of the best in college circles.

Sixty-six men made the annual tour this winter which covered over thirteen hundred miles, lasted eight days, and included twenty concerts and four broadcasts, two of which were national chain hook-ups, and one of which was sent around the world over short wave. On this tour the group sang to over twenty thousand persons in high schools, churches, alumni gatherings, and public concerts. The chief cities included on the itinerary were Pittsburgh, Washington, Philadelphia, Wilmington, and New York.

Besides the annual tour the club made several appearances on campus, in one of which they broke the all-time record for church attendance in Lewisburg with an audience of over 1300 persons. They also made trips off campus to Elmira, N. Y., Jersey Shore, Pa., Milton, Williamsport, and Sunbury. As the yearbook goes to press, plans are under way to have the Gleemen return to New York for an appearance at the World's Fair.

Women's Glee Club

The Women's Glee Club is composed of the voices selected by Miss Grace Jenkins from the 125 feminine student voices in the Mixed Chorus.

Each year the group presents several concerts, including the Spring Concert, and, the annual May Day Concert. In addition to this there are concerts presented in the nearby towns and cities throughout the year.

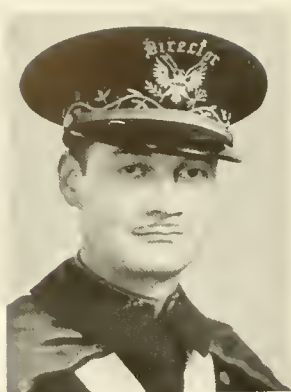

A small chorus of voices is chosen from the Glee Club to present special concerts, among which are several sacred concerts and a traditional sing at the annual Faculty Christmas Dinner. At times the Club is assisted during the year by the Melrose Quartette.

Bucknell Band

The big attraction of the Bucknell Band this year was the addition of a twenty-four piece girls' Drum and Bugle Corps. Completely uniformed and equipped, the new corps played many times both with the Band and separately. Nothing quite like this is incorporated into any other band in the country.

Under the direction of Melvin LeMon, the Band as a whole appeared at every home football game, and made two trips with the team; one to Pennsylvania State College and another to Temple University. This year, for the first time, the size of the new gym enabled it to play for basketball games and boxing matches. The Band was very fortunate in having such accomplished Drum Majors as Bernice Henry and Walter Biddle who were responsible for the outstanding drill maneuvers.

In addition to playing at athletic events, student rallies and parades, the Band gave several concerts. The chief of these was at the annual Spring Festival. Last year the Twilight Concert at commencement time was revived. The Band is also responsible for the music provided at the Commencement Exercises.

During the year 1938-1939, the Mixed Chorus presented three major oratorios. "The Messiah" by Handel, annual Christmas oratorio, was sung by

Mixed Chorus

175 voices, largest chorus ever to sing the work at Bucknell. On the first Sunday of the Lenten season, a chorus of 90 voices presented the "Requiem" by Johannes Brahms. As part of the Bucknell University Commencement program, the Mixed Chorus presented Beethoven's "Missa Solemnis." Soloists for each of these events were chosen from among the professional artists and the local talent. Each of the oratorios was accompanied by a string orchestra, piano and organ.

All musically inclined students of Bucknell University are eligible for membership in the Mixed Chorus. Each member is privileged to daily training individually or in small groups.

Collegium Musicum

A rare instrument from the Renaissance

The Collegium Musicum is one of the most interesting developments in the Music Department. Directed and founded by Paul Gies, this organization is made up of students interested in the music of the Renaissance. It played for several concerts, and gave two performances at the Bach Festival in Wilkes-Barre.

Orchestra

The outstanding feature of the Symphony Orchestra has been a series of Chamber Music Concerts which are not played a great deal in this country. This is the third year that the series has been presented. On the twenty-fourth of April a concert was given at which the music of Gluck and Hayden was played. Paul Gies conducts the Orchestra, and Charles F. Stickney is the Assistant Conductor and Concert Master.

This year the annual Women's Song Contest sponsored by Mu Phi Epsilon was won by Phi Mu, with Alpha Chi Omega second in what proved to be the closest and most talented contest yet heard.

Melrose Quartette

Four girls and an accompanist work together under the direction of Miss Melicent Melrose to form the distinctive Melrose Quartette. This year the quartette specialized in the music of Liszt, Grieg, Brahms, and special folk songs from the Hebrides Islands. The girls appeared in numerous concerts both on and off the campus.

Men's Debating

Robert T. Oliver
Coach

Bucknell, as one of the charter members of the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges (The Pennsylvania Debating Society), has an established reputation in the forensic field. Last year, because of its outstanding record, it was admitted to membership in the Eastern Intercollegiate Debate League. A chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, national debating honorary, was established at Bucknell for recognition of distinguished work on the debating team.

Debating has developed into one of the most extensive intercollegiate activities which Bucknell students are afforded. Between seventy and ninety debates are held each year, not only with the leading American colleges and universities, but also with such foreign schools as Oxford, Cambridge, the University of Melbourne, and the University of Toronto.

Women's Debating

Until this year, both the men's team and the women's team acted as individual units. In the fall, however, a co-ordinating agent was organized called the Forensic Council. This council decides the policy of the debating teams, and acts as an administrative body for the Student Speaker's Bureau. It is composed of the debating coach, the faculty adviser, the managers of both the men's and the women's team, the publicity director, a representative of Tau Kappa Alpha, and the manager of the Student Speaker's Bureau.

The problem of isolation and government "pump-priming" (stimulation of business by the expenditure of government's funds) were the two main topics used in the various debates. Because of a heavy schedule, most of the debates were made during various trips instead of at the university.

The Christian Association is the largest organization on the Bucknell campus. It sponsors such activities as the Mother's Day and Father's Day programs, Freshman Camp, the securing of campus speakers, and the publishing of the Student Handbook. The "C. This year it conducted drives for funds to bring a refugee student to Bucknell, to aid Chinese college students, and to improve the Recreation Center at Cowan.

There are over four hundred non-affiliated men and women on the Bucknell Campus. These students are all eligible for membership in the Student Campus Club, an organization founded in recent years to provide some social grouping for undergraduates who do not belong to a fraternity or sorority.

The Student Campus Club takes an active part in the social activities of the campus. An annual "Big Dance" is staged by the club and is free to all members. Each month the students meet and combine business meetings with movies and dancing. They likewise participate in intramural debating each year.

In intramural athletics the S.C.C. is always an outstanding contender. Both men and women are outfitted by the club, and participate in every intramural sport.

Thus, the Student Campus Club exists for the student who is unable or unwilling to be a member of a fraternity or sorority, and yet wishes to participate socially, athletically, or otherwise in Bucknell activities.

A group of the four hundred non-affiliated students at Bucknell

The "Bucknellians," swingsters for campus and nearby town dances

The Bucknellians

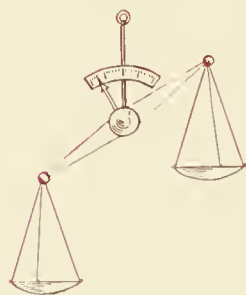

The BUCKNELLIANs are a group of boys taken from the musical talent among the men on campus who are interested in perpetuating a dance orchestra on campus. Student opinion has it that this year's is the finest aggregation the campus has yet known.

The members are chosen for their musical ability as well as their willingness to work for the success of the organization. The aim of the musicians is to develop into a first class dance orchestra which will carry a word of approval with its name at all times. As the personnel stands now, there are no men to be lost by graduation, so next year's band should prove to be an even finer and more polished combination.

In addition to genial Bob Stanton, the trumpeter-leader, the band has Helen Oak, vocalist; Murray Waldman, manager and second sax; Allan Rosenberg and Herbert Wilkinson, also sax players; Jack Winter and Allen Beck, trumpets; Bill Woods, trombone; Dick Sherwood, piano; Bob Shaffer, drums; Bob Snyder, bass.

Student Faculty Congress

The Student Faculty Congress, composed of an equal number of students and faculty members, meets once a month during the school year at the president's home to consider problems of vital interest to all.

This year the most important work was done in reorganizing the congress itself. Much of the regular work of the congress is done by sub-committees which function throughout the year. Some of these committees are: the Student Budget Committee, which allocates money from the student budget to the various organizations; the May Day Committee, which handles the annual Spring Festival; the School Spirit Committee, which attempts to arouse the interest of students in athletic contests; and the special committee appointed to consider the problem of students having cars at school.

Women's Student Government

The Women's Student Government Association includes in its membership every woman student at Bucknell. Guiding the Association is the Women's Student Senate, to which fourteen members are elected from the three upper classes of sorority and non-sorority students.

As in past years the W.S.G.A. entertained faculty members and their wives at the annual Christmas Dinner. Co-ed Nite, the novelty social affair of the year, was held in February, at which time the girls reversed the usual boy-invite-girl procedure. Proceeds were used to help pay for the new radio-victrola which the students constantly put to use in Larison Hall living room.

Monthly meetings of the organization are held to help clarify rules, and to assure their enforcement. The group is represented on the Student Faculty Congress, the University Social Committee, the committee on university automobile regulation, and the faculty-student committee in charge of plans for the refugee student. In this way the W.S.G.A. indicates its interest in cooperation between faculty and student groups in their service to the university.

BUCKNELL 28—FURMAN 6

Bucknell's Bisons opened up their second campaign under the instruction of the popular mentor, Al Humphreys, by smothering Furman's Purple Hurricane 28 to 6. Passes from Tomasetti to Lane accounted for the liberal scoring, with both men sharing in the points at two touchdowns apiece.

Quick and Kiick, extra point kickers, were successful on all four tries by placement to make a perfect start for the year. In the closing minutes Furman scored against Bucknell replacements.

BUCKNELL 27—GETTYSBURG 14

Sticking strictly to ground plays, the Herd gathered four touchdowns in the first three periods against a plucky Gettysburg eleven to win easily 27 to 14. All the Bucknell points were secured by sustained drives of over 70 yards.

Tomasetti raised his total to four touchdowns for two games by crossing the goal line at the conclusion of the first and second marches. Kiick and Funair piled up the yardage as the Bison front line had little trouble opening up holes in the Bullet wall. Quick and Kiick made three out of four placements to maintain an enviable record in that department.

State quarterback Harrison eludes Bison lineman on an end run

BUCKNELL 14—PENN STATE 0

In the third game of the year, an embittered and revengeful Bucknell team completely ruined a Penn State Homecoming and evened a close loss from last year by administering a 14 to 0 beating to the Nittany club.

Funair stunned the Blue and White in the first quarter by shaking loose of left tackle for a 94 yard touchdown sprint behind perfect interference to pull the Orangemen out of a hole on their own six, and change the aspect of bitter battle. Quick made the extra point. Smart quarterbacking on the part of Co-captain Lane had no small part in gaining this advantage as well as protecting it the remainder of the game by his timely punts.

Bucknell completely dominated the play thereafter, and repulsed every evidence of a State scoring threat by bottling up their feared pony backs. Play was confined to the center of the field as the Bison first team controlled State's different combinations, and were in turn held in check by the Lions with the half ending 7 to 0.

Play was again fairly even in the second half until Bucknell secured the ball in State territory, and concluded a short drive by Kiick's plunge for a score on a line buck. The try for placement was again successful, and put the game completely in Bucknell's hands in spite of numerous long range passes by Penn State in the final few minutes.

As the Orange and Blue close in on shifty State ball totor

BUCKNELL 0—TEMPLE 26

Two hard games in eight days were too much for the battered Bisons when they traveled to Philadelphia for a night game with Temple, and consequently they were handed a 26 to 0 defeat.

The regulars, having given all they had to protect their lead at State, were unable to hold back a vengeful Owl attack which counted twice in the early part of the game to establish a margin that gained "Pop" Warner his first victory over a Bucknell team. Fog and mist rolled over the field at the half to render futile all Orange efforts to throw successful passes when their ground attack was stalled. On the other hand, Temple's running plays were unstopable, and added two more touchdowns to Temple's mounting total over the weary Bisons.

"Fumble" . . . and a Bucknell recovery

BUCKNELL 6—ALBRIGHT 0

A second quarter passing attack resulted in a touchdown heave to Marty Quick, and proved to be the winning score in a Bucknell victory over Albright 6 to 0. The Bisons were unable to capitalize on opportunities gained throughout the first half when confronted by the stubborn goal line defense of the Lions.

Albright brought the ball into Bucknell territory only once the whole afternoon, but an intercepted pass by Serrao, Bison substitute, turned the tide. Funair made consistent gains through the line, but his touchdown run on a lateral from Serrao was called back. Quick, Funair, Serrao and Lane constantly threatened the Lion final stripe behind the fine offensive and defensive work of the Bucknell front line, but were unable to score the remainder of the grueling fight.

BUCKNELL 0—GEORGETOWN 13

Where heroes are made . . . not born

For the second time in the season Bucknell ran into bad weather for a night game, when Georgetown nosed out the Bisons 13 to 0 at their meeting in Washington. Using their spread formation, Georgetown scored immediately after the start of the game to put the Bisons under a handicap in what proved to be a close battle.

Co-captain Lane was removed early in the contest with a concussion of the brain, but Dueger proved his worth the remainder of the fracas by capably taking over the quarterbacking and punting duties. Tomasetti played his best offensive game of the year but he, like the rest of the Bison backs, was unable to cross the final stripe. Late in the game, Georgetown pushed over a touchdown against Bucknell substitutes when Jones fumbled on his own 13 yard mark.

Homecoming—The spectator's viewpoint

BUCKNELL 16—GEORGE WASHINGTON 0

A disappointing Homecoming crowd saw the Thundering Herd literally swamp a George Washington team 16 to 0 on a field that was turned into a muddy pond by the steady downpour.

The Colonials never seriously threatened, while Bucknell turned the breaks into scores in the first and fourth periods, besides adding a safety in the initial period on a bad pass by the G. W. center. Before the game was five minutes old, Quick circled left end on a reverse from Tomasetti for a touchdown, and added the extra point. Lane and Dueger carried their end of the resulting punting duel so well the Washington team was forced to play defensive ball the entire game, and finally let the second score go across when McElhaney recovered a G. W. fumble on their own three yard stripe. Jones, at left halfback position, took the ball over on the first try.

BUCKNELL 0—MIAMI 19

After having played their whole schedule in a northern climate, the Herd journeyed to Miami for their annual game with Miami University only to lose 19 to 0.

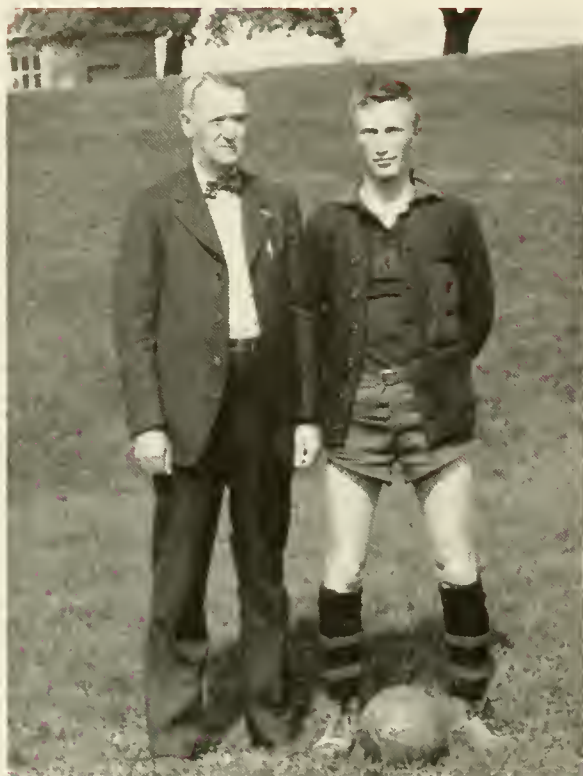

Bucknell made several threats in the first half—before the unaccustomed heat took its toll—but were unable to convert any of their chances into counters. The Southerners were successful in one attempt, making the score 6 to 0 at the end of the half. Following the intermission, Miami took all the remaining spirit out of the Bison cohorts by throwing two touchdown passes to remove any chance of an Orange victory.

Unluckily, this defeat was the swan song for six regulars and three dependable reserves on the Orange and Blue squad that had proven their worth over a three year period. Lynn, Rhodes and Manrodt, always fighting linemen, as well as Co-captains Lane and Tomasetti and Marty Quick, efficient extra point specialist, will leave big holes for Coach Humphreys to fill.

SOCCKER RESUME

Fight alone was not enough to overcome the handicap of ineligibility of good men and experienced players, as Coach Merle Edwards' soccer team managed to win only two games and tie one, while losing five for their fall record.

High point of the year was the second game, when the booters threw a scare into Penn State's unbeaten squad before stubbornly allowing the Lion team to eke out a 1 to 0 victory by means of a clever kick from the right side of the goal that just escaped the outstretched hands of goalie Joe Diblin.

Twice the Bisons rose to superb heights—both times on their home field—to submerge their opponents by one-sided scores. Western Maryland was the first of these two, losing 4 to 0, and Dickinson the other, by being drowned 3 to 0 in a game cut short because of the steady rain that marred Homecoming.

The outlook for next year is exceptionally bright since only three men will be lost to the squad, and the underclassmen showed definite promise with the experience gained during the past season. Captain Bob Brumberger closed his career by earning All-American mention at inside left position from which his offensive and stellar defensive play gained him the honor.

DAVIS GYMNASIUM

A dream realized and appreciated tells the entire story of Davis gymnasium after one year of use in the newly completed center section. Fulfilling the long-felt need of a building large enough to accommodate the entire student body, the gymnasium was utilized throughout the school term.

Although it is possible to play a great variety of games on the spacious 80 by 140 foot floor, as well as furnish a base for operation and pre-season training for the major outdoor sports, the plant has been used for all the larger social functions.

The intramural and physical education program has been enlarged, with a resulting increased interest in these departments, enabling every student to get his fill in any type of athletics he may follow besides being able to receive instruction from capable coaches. With a seating capacity of over 2000, the establishment has proven a boon to the Athletic Department, and has allowed all to watch the different teams their entire schedules.

BASKETBALL RESUME

Coach Mal Musser faced a definite problem when he was confronted with the turnout for his initial call for basketball candidates. Last June the first seven men on his squad graduated, leaving only Kiick, Diblin and Captain Lane as veterans around which to build a team capable of meeting stiff competition. His problem became doubly difficult when George Kiick was stricken with appendicitis, and accordingly was unable to play until the middle of the season.

Consequently, the early part of the schedule was confined to finding the most capable sophomores to fill the breach and, although only one game was won the first half of the year, these sophomores gained enough experience to aid in the last half winning streak. Nolan and Buzas definitely established themselves as able hoopsters, and with the return of Kiick were able to end the season with an even balance of wins and losses in the ledger. By virtue of six straight victories the Bisons revenged themselves for the earlier losses, and allowed only one team to gain two victories over them. This turned what looked like a disastrous schedule into a mediocre campaign.

THE SEASON

Relying solely on the unknown ability of several sophomores, the mitt-men were handicapped until these sophomores gathered enough experience to give a capable accounting of themselves.

Establishing a season's record of three wins, two losses and one tie from their six meet schedule, the boxers developed so rapidly they won their last two encounters by lopsided scores, and clinched the conference tournament. The heavier weights carried the brunt of the burden as Coach Reno was unable to find men skilled enough to fill the 125 and 145 pound posts. Goodman and Flaugh held the 120 and 135 pound positions through the year against hard opposition while Walker, MacElhaney, Quick and Funair were consistent point-getters.

THE EASTERN CONFERENCE

With the facilities of the new gymnasium at its disposal, Bucknell was able to secure the Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing Tournament for the first time since joining the conference.

Excitement prevailed throughout the final night after the two days of eliminations, as the score sheet disclosed Bucknell and C.C.N.Y. were practically tie and the team championship depended on the outcome of the unlimited class with Funair meeting C.C.N.Y.'s unbeaten man in that division. In a previous encounter, these two men had fought to a draw, but both came out of their corners with double determination that this meeting would not end the same. Funair succeeded in ending the fast battle by a technical knockout in the second round by means of a hard right.

Contributors to the points for the cup were runner-up Goodman, 120 pound class, and individual champions Walker, 155 pounds, McElhany, 165 pounds, and Funair, unlimited.

THE SEASON

Following a weak start in which they lost the first three games, Bucknell's 1938 baseball edition traveled the remaining distance at a .625 clip to turn in a fairly successful record for the year.

Three players, Lane, Zigarelli and Kiick, averaged over .400 in the batting department and were closely followed by Buzas at .387. The showing of these men enabled the team to turn in an average for the schedule of .310. Besides demonstrating his ability with a bat, Buzas had a perfect year on the mound, when he left his regular spot at third base, to give Bowman and Livengood, regular hurlers, a rest.

Captain Mike Sager led in runs scored and held down the left field garden when donning a glove. Kessler, lead-off man, had a perfect record from right field in fielding chances with no errors. Again the outlook for this season is bright with six of the nine most valuable men on last year's starters returning.

100 YEARS OF BASEBALL

Bucknell was honored by receiving an invitation to participate in the National Baseball Centennial celebration held this spring at Cooperstown, N. Y., baseball's home town, where Bucknell's most famous alumnus, Christy Mathewson, will be given his due on the day set aside in his memory.

Previous to the game, May 27, between Bucknell and their opponents, St. Lawrence, a bronze bust of Christy will be unveiled by his widow and added to the Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum at Cooperstown. Here the present Mathewson plaque and exhibits draw more attention from the visitors than any others. The part which Bucknell will play is only a small bit since the celebration under the direction of the National Baseball Centennial Commission, Inc., of which Al Stoughton, another alumnus, is secretary, will be run for several months with numerous college teams participating.

Bucknell has well earned recognition from the game of baseball for, besides Christy, it has given many other men who received their preliminary training in Lewisburg, to the major leagues.

THE SEASON

Winning 11 straight matches without a defeat, Bucknell's tennis team concluded their most successful season in its history by rolling up 78 match points to their opponent's 18.

Three racket wielders went through the season undefeated in singles competition. Emmett Steele, number two, George Campo, number six, and Sam Nesbit, number four, were the men with clean slates and, coupled with George MacCall's record of only one loss at the number one place easily accounted for the one-sided year.

MacCall and Steele were most successful in doubles, having suffered no losses in six chances. With the majority of these men returning, the team has an opportunity to establish the longest winning streak in Bucknell's sports annals.

In recent years tennis has grown to a place of prominence in the Bucknell scheme of things. This wave of interest has been so widespread in its nature that the administration last year added eight new courts to those already on North Field, and the women were given four new courts on Loomis Field for their use.

The net result, pun unintended, is that Bucknell is now becoming considered a threat in the realm of tennis. This new move hit an all time high in the undefeated team of 1938. With a young team to build upon, and with the addition of splendid material from the freshman class, it would seem that the Bison is due to repeat last year's performances.

The success of the team was largely due to the play of two boys who have been a threat singly or as a doubles team since preparatory school days. The men, Steele and MacCall, are both ranking players in the national amateur standings. The former went thru the season undefeated, while his running mate lost only one match while playing the difficult number one position. Steele has several state championships to his credit, and MacCall was a finalist in the Indoor Intercollegiate Matches held this winter at Swarthmore.

THE SEASON

Winning only two out of a six meet schedule, the Bison track team of 1938 had a weak year in spite of several exceptional men and a fairly well balanced squad.

Bucknell's cindermen proved superior to Dickinson, $81\frac{1}{2}$ to $44\frac{1}{2}$, and to Susquehanna, 101 to 25, while losing to F. and M., 86 to 40, and a close one to Juniata, $65\frac{1}{2}$ to $60\frac{1}{2}$. The other two meets which Bucknell entered were the Penn Relays and the Middle Atlantics in which the Orangemen were handicapped by bad starts and several unfortunate accidents that took away all chance of a better than third place in both meets.

Captain Danny Friedman and Enio Conti were consistent point-getters in their events. Friedman ran the 220 yard dash, quarter mile and last leg on the relay team while Conti handled the weights using the same heft that worked so well as a tackle on the football team.

THE BISON GOLFERS

Followers of the game of golf are looking forward to seeing Bucknell's first organized team play their initial schedule in that sport this spring.

Coach Hal Evans is blessed with a group of excellent men with no member being exceptionally outstanding, but all having enough ability to turn out a well-balanced squad. Leading this year's link men will be Bill Johnson at number one post. The balance will be filled out with proven intra-mural swingers to lend a note of optimism to this addition in Bucknell's athletic program.

Freshmen Sports

The football team opened its schedule by traveling to West Point for a game with the Plebes. In spite of the lack of enough practice to be at their best, the frosh brought home a moral victory from a 0 to 0 tie. Two weeks later a strong Albright Junior Varsity came to Lewisburg, only to return on the short end of a 7 to 0 score as the young Orange played a good game before a Father's Day crowd.

Hampered by injuries sustained in scrimmage with the varsity, the frosh were in no shape to battle the Nittany Lion Cubs when they met at State College a week after in a rough game. Throughout the uneven fight Bucknell men were removed to join the ranks of the already injured, while State's larger squad overpowered the second stringers 20 to 0. Following a layoff of several weeks, Scranton-Keystone was completely outclassed by the Baby Bisons at LaPlume to the tune of 24 to 0 with every Bucknell man seeing action.

In the season's finale, Temple's Owlets took a hard fought contest 13 to 7 by virtue of a fumbled pass by Bucknell. The game, played in Memorial Stadium, was the best of the year, with a break in the closing minutes deciding the issue against the Orange hopefuls.

Freshman mittmen had only one chance to show their boxing ability this winter, since only one meet was arranged. Penn State's Cubs turned the trick by beating the Bison juniors 5 to 3 in the first half of a dual meet. The outcome showed several potential additions to this year's championship varsity club.

A fair idea of the ability of the frosh basketball team can be gathered from their record of being the first team to go through the league schedule undefeated, as well as being the first Bucknell team to defeat a Penn State basketball team for several years. The yearlings lost but two games of their entire schedule, the first encounter with the State Cubs, which they later evened, and a close one to Dickinson Seminary in a single encounter that robbed them of the chance to nullify that loss. Both these defeats were lost by a total of five points. A wealth of material will be available for next year's varsity from this club, and will supply the necessary punch to this season's underclass varsity squad.

MEN'S INTRA-MURALS

Men's Intramural Council

The athletic policy of the Intramural Council at Bucknell has always been toward participation by the entire student body in some type of sport. The intramural program is guided rather than dictated, and an attempt is made to adapt it to the students' needs, abilities, and interests. The council is composed of four seniors, four juniors, and members of the men's physical education department.

An annual trophy is awarded to the organization which has won the most points by participating in the various sports on the program. Individual cups are awarded to each champion team. This year trap shooting, badminton, and shuffleboard were added to the competition.

Coulbourn receives the all-year trophy for Kappa Sigma

In May of 1932, efficient control of intramural sports was inaugurated with the establishment of the Men's Intramural Council, under the supervision of the Physical Education Department. It has been their duty to render decisions on disputable contests, arrange schedules, select judges and referees, and award cups and medals to both individual and group champions.

Under the able direction of the fall manager are the following sports: soccer and cross country; the winter sports are as well directed and include: basketball, volleyball, boxing, and wrestling. Rounding out the intramural program for group participation are the spring sports which include: baseball and track. Group teams winning the above mentioned sports receive points which count toward the annual "All Year Trophy." The individual winners of foul shooting, horseshoe pitching, tennis, handball, golf, trapshooting, quoits, archery, shuffleboard, and badminton receive medals for their proficiency and skill.

SOFTBALL

The final game of a three game series proved to be a duel from the mound between "Bill" Foltz, S.A.E., and "Don" Stolz, S.C.C., but the former, backed by a slightly better balanced team, captured the cup.

In the semi-final games S.C.C. defeated Sigma Chi, while S.A.E. turned back Kappa Sigma.

The season sparkled with the fine pitching of Van Duren, P.K.P., the fielding of MacWilliams, S.C., the batting of Lane, D.S., and the all-around ability of Baker, P.G.D.

TRACK

With a well balanced team, both on the track and the field, the Kappa Sigma team won the 1938 meet, and with it the "All Year Trophy." They scored 35 points while Sigma Chi was second with 30 points. Following closely behind them was the Student Campus Club with 27 points. The summary is as follows:

CROSS-COUNTRY

Charles Eyer, for the fourth consecutive year, won the cross country run. However, the winning team was Kappa Sigma, who placed three men among the first ten that finished. Sigma Chi was second, with two men to finish among the first ten. The run was over a new and difficult course, but the entries were all successful in completing the entire distance. The time for the 3.8 miles was 21 minutes and 42 seconds. The first ten men in order of their positions were:

SOCCER

Sigma Chi and Phi Gamma Delta entered the final game of a three game series both with one victory to their credit. At no time during the entire contest was the outcome predictable. However, with a well balanced team both on offense and defense, the Sigma Chi booters defeated a scrappy Phi Gam group to the end the Fijis' two year reign in this sport. The entire schedule was featured by clean, hard fought games, and much credit should go to the individual players from all groups.

Each year competition becomes keener in each of the intramural sports, and of late it has been much the same story. The teams representing Kappa Sigma in the various sports are rarely cup winners, but there is such consistency in their ability to stay close to the winners that they have always managed to come out on top for the all-year trophies.

This year the course of events was broken somewhat when the Kappa Sigs broke thru in the fall, winning the cross-country cup. They lost out in soccer and boxing, but came back into the championship column by winning the basketball cup from the very strong team wearing the blue and gold of Sigma Chi.

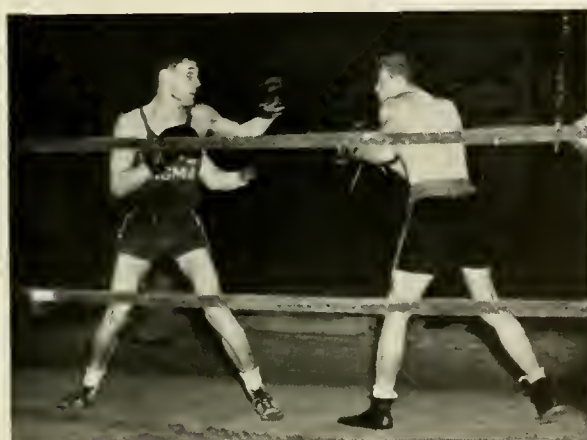

The Kappa Sigs took the first game of the finals in a nip and tuck affair which was anybody's ball game until the final whistle, when the winners were leading with the narrow margin of one point. In the second game, considered the finest bit of basketball yet to be seen in Davis Gymnasium, the victory was again a single point triumph. A do or die attitude on the part of all the participants marked the contest, and material from the star freshman team made it really bang-up ball.

Under the capable coaching of Frank Funair, the S.C.C. won the 1939 boxing trophy. The S.C.C. had three individual champions while the Sigma Chi, their nearest competitors, had two victories. Following are the summaries:

115 lb. Class—Williams—S.C.C.
125 lb. Class—Nichols—S.C.C.
135 lb. Class—Blair—S.C.

Women's Athletic Association

The Women's Athletic Association was established to direct sports activities which build wholesome attitudes and habits among the women of the University, and which encourage the development of efficient leadership. By following this pattern, a recreational program is organized providing physical and social benefit to the women, and contributing much to the social and moral welfare of the entire student body. To insure the sincerity of this purpose, the W.A.A. has become a member of the National Amateur Athletic Federation.

This year has been a notable one for the Women's Athletic Association. The governing council was enlarged, a new constitution was written, and the program was expanded. The Executive Board now consists of all officers, one non-voting representative from each sorority, and one non-voting representative from the Student Campus Club.

The baseball season was marked by close competition, finally resulting in an Alpha Chi Omega Championship.

Hockey season also found the Alpha Chis in the lead with an undefeated and unscored upon team. The champions defeated the Phi Mu team 4-0; Delta Delta Delta 2-0; Kappa Delta 1-0; Pi Beta Phi 1-0; and the Student Campus Club 1-0. As a result of these victories, the Alpha Chi team was awarded the Hockey Cup.

Climaxing their successful year with the basketball championship, Alpha Chi Omega definitely established themselves as Women's Champions by virtue of their three triumphs.

In addition to the usual inter-sorority competition, the athletic council instigated this year an inter-class volley ball tournament. The sophomore girls were crowned champions after they had defeated the seniors in the play-off. In the semi-finals, the juniors lost to the sophomores, and the freshman lost to the seniors. The finalists were tied at several points in the series, but the sophomores finally won in a hard-fought playoff game.

Two individual tournaments were held this year—badminton and ping-pong. Josephine Dodson defeated Janet Cristadoro to win the badminton crown. The ping-pong series was featured by many close matches down to the playoff where Hannah Mervine was able to nose out Eleanor Bendell, the 1938 champion, by the score of 2-1.

October, 1938, witnessed one of the most important events in the history of women's athletics at Bucknell for, at this time, a remodeled Tustin Gymnasium was dedicated for the use of the women students.

The athletic quarters were moved from the antiquated room on the fourth floor of Harris Hall to a modern and completely adequate gymnasium consisting of locker, shower, and equipment rooms. Office space and rest room were also provided for. In addition to the gymnasium, the women students were also afforded the use of Loomis Field for hockey, baseball, and archery. Two new tennis courts for women were also constructed on the field.

then a brisk rub down, shower, and hair dry.

Miss Roversi and room-mate Danneman off to the courts.

SOCIETIES

Inter-Fraternity Council

Composed of two members from each of the campus fraternities, the Inter-Fraternity Council is an organization whose primary objective is to promote and maintain friendliness and a spirit of cooperation between the social fraternities. It also functions for fraternity harmony with the university administration and among the fraternities themselves.

In the past year, it has been the work of this group to formulate and enforce fraternity rushing rules, to serve as a mediating body in problems of interfraternity relationships and to incorporate certain pertinent legislation.

Pan-Hellenic Council

The Pan-Hellenic Council acts as a friendly guide to all of the sororities. Although its main objective is that of enforcing rushing rules, it also provides scholarship cups for the pledges and the actives. In this way a higher scholastic average is maintained among the girls. The council works for cooperation, however, rather than competition. Two girls from each sorority make up the council with Dean Dyer acting as faculty adviser.

Alpha Chi Sigma is a professional fraternity whose aim is to strive for the advancement of chemistry both as a science and as a profession.

The Beta Alpha chapter was represented at the Semi-Annual Convention held at New Orleans in August by Robert Bechtel. During the past year the chapter has held open meetings at which time various speakers and movies presented the chemical aspects of industry and research. Throughout the year student papers are presented and discussed, receiving helpful comments from Dr. Stetkewicz and Dr. Miller.

The highlights of the year were the pledging ceremony held in December, the initiation ceremony, and the banquet held in honor of the district counsellor, Dr. Roberts, head of the Chemistry Department at Colgate University.

Alpha Lambda Delta

As a feminine counterpart of Phi Eta Sigma, Alpha Lambda Delta was established on the campus May 11, 1938. Seventeen persons made up the charter group which has since climbed to a total of thirty-eight members. Alpha Lambda Delta's major aim is to encourage that high scholastic attainment which leads to a rich, full life.

During the year, its members acted as hostesses for teas given by Dean Dyer. At a chapel program in collaboration with Phi Eta Sigma, a Tapping Ceremony was held to pledge new members.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers is not an honorary, but a student branch of the parent professional A.S.M.E. It was organized to familiarize students with the field they are about to enter, and to encourage them to join the parent society upon graduation.

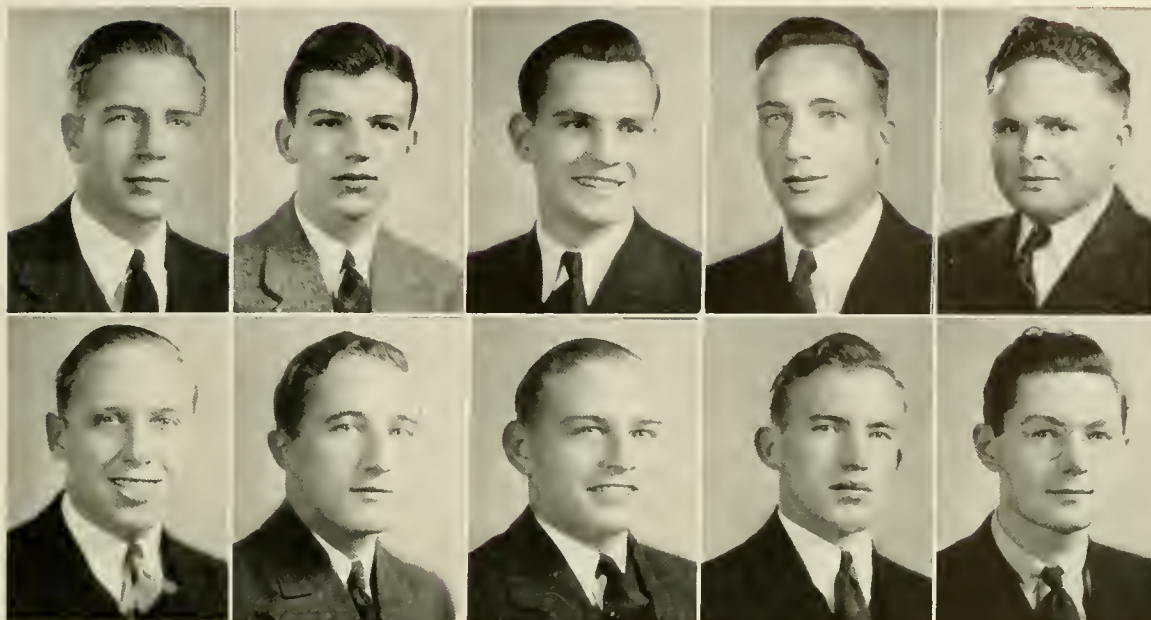

A trip was made by the senior members to New York City where the World's Fair, the Power Show, and the Edison Power Plant were inspected. Early in May, representatives were sent to Cleveland to the Student Engineering Convention.

Although established only five years ago, Beta Epsilon Sigma has carved for itself a prominent niche along the row of honorary fraternities. It aims to provide an incentive and a goal for all engineers. At monthly meetings student technical papers are discussed, or talks are given by outside speakers. One of its most notable activities is the founding of a scholarship fund to be used in the future by worthy engineers.

The C. E. A. is a senior honorary for outstanding women. It sponsors Alpha Lambda Delta, a freshman women's scholastic honorary. It also takes charge of the Literary Week-End; selecting the speakers and planning the program. In addition to this, the C. E. A. plans Moving-Up Day which is held early in the spring. This is the long-awaited day when the girls of Bucknell are advanced a class with regard to various privileges and permissions. This year, it sponsored a student activity survey.

Delta Mu Delta, honorary economics fraternity, is unique in the fact that every year its members make two trips. The first of these, in the fall, is to New York City where various points of interest to the economic student are visited. In the spring a second trip to Washington is made. The fraternity stands as an incentive for higher grades in economics and more interest in this field.

Delta Phi Alpha is a national organization, founded for the purpose of affording special recognition to those students who have achieved exceptional success in the study of the German language, and, in a supplementary way, to make possible a study of German life, customs, and ideals. Phi Chapter, founded on the Bucknell campus in 1932, has strived to perpetuate the purpose for which the parent body was organized.

Preceded for two years by a local Women's Education Club, Kappa Delta Epsilon was installed at Bucknell on January 8, 1939. The chapter consists of junior and senior women who have had at least two education courses, and who have maintained a specified scholastic average during their college career.

Through speakers from the Bucknell faculty and outside sources, through its program of service at conferences, and through research reports by the national organization, Kappa Delta Epsilon has endeavored to aid in the intellectual advancement of its own members, and Bucknell's general educational program.

The men's professional education fraternity, Kappa Phi Kappa, was brought to the Bucknell campus to promote the cause of education by encouraging men of character and ability to engage in the study of its principles and problems. At its meetings, throughout the year, faculty, graduate, and undergraduate speakers have lectured. The group also discusses papers on educational problems which members have prepared. Once a year Kappa Phi Kappa has a banquet with Kappa Alpha Epsilon, women's educational honorary.

Installed on the campus in 1916, Mu Phi Epsilon, music honor society for women, continues to be one of the most select, and at the same time one of the most active organizations at Bucknell. It is primarily interested in promoting scholarship, friendship, and love of music among the women students.

The Mu Phi's have participated in every musical performance this year, on or off campus, where women were needed. Practically every member sang in both the "Messiah" in December, and in the "Requiem" in March. On March 23, it sponsored an inter-sorority song contest, and on March 28, the annual Spring Recital was presented.

Lapsing into dormacy after many active years, Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalism fraternity, was re-established in 1938. By considering itself a hospitality committee for speakers whom the administration may bring to the campus, it has served the University invaluable. At several of its meetings, well-known writers have spoken to the group. This year a committee was chosen to investigate the possibility of recognizing the heads of Bucknell publications.

Sigma Tau Delta

Sigma Tau Delta was organized to promote the mastery of written expression, to encourage worthwhile reading, and to foster a spirit of fellowship among the English majors. At monthly meetings a program of original written contributions of the members is presented. These papers are discussed by the group, and given constructive criticism. When a new form of entertainment appeared on the campus, that of a moving picture followed by a dance, Sigma Tau Delta was one of the first to sponsor it.

The main activity of the honorary forensic fraternity during this year was the sponsorship of the intramural debates, in which thirteen fraternities and sororities participated. The debate series was completed in the week before Christmas vacation, and a cup was awarded the winning fraternity.

Tau Kappa Alpha also took active interest in the Student Speaker's Bureau which was begun last year, and which has been very active this year in sending speakers out to adult and student groups in the vicinity.

The policies of varsity debate organizations are formulated and directed by Tau Kappa Alpha, since the members of the Debate Council come from its ranks.

Theta Alpha Phi, honorary dramatics fraternity, is closely interrelated with Cap and Dagger; consequently much of its attention and energy is focused upon Cap and Dagger productions. This spring, it sent several representatives to the Cultural Olympics held at the University of Pennsylvania. There a forum was held with other collegiate dramatic organizations of the country. Each year, Theta Alpha Phi sponsors a Little Theatre dinner which serves to keep before the public eye the eventual erection of a Little Theatre at Bucknell.

Sigma Alpha Kappa was organized twelve years ago to strengthen the bonds of friendship among the male help in the seminary kitchen. It has the distinction of being the only fraternity on the campus which does not rush prospective pledges, but, on the contrary, confidently awaits the pledges rushing it. Since there are no dues, it has the added distinction of being entirely free from debt.

In each sport the coach, captain, manager, and Graduate Manager form a committee to decide who has met the requirements for his varsity "B." Each spring in chapel the upperclassmen are rewarded with gifts of dark blue sweaters with the big orange "B."

Regular bi-monthly meetings are held, and the Catholic students have a Communion service followed by a Communion breakfast twice yearly. Speakers talking on subjects pertinent to Catholic youths are heard at the regular meetings. At Bucknell all of the one hundred and thirty Catholic students are eligible for membership.

The Torch and Scroll Society at Bucknell University corresponds to the national society Omicron Delta Kappa at other Universities. The purpose of this group, composed of juniors and seniors with one representative from each of the lower classes, is to foster participation in extra-curricular activities, with recognition given to the leaders in these activities. The Society aims to put university markers on the highways near Bucknell, and to continue acting as the official recognition center for all Bucknell extra-curricular societies. The present year is its first year of organization, and next year Torch and Scroll plans to even further expand its activities.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

To begin expressing gratitude to all the persons who were in any way a help with the 1939 version of L'Agenda would be almost an impossible task, for favors by the hundred are required, and at Bucknell everyone seems cheerfully willing to aid.

There are, however, those who were called upon with much more regularity than others, and so, publicly my thanks from the staff and myself to: Mr. Holter, the advisor for the book, for permitting us the freedom of decision we enjoyed; Miss Esther Bucher for her quiet assistance in countless details; Mr. Burpee, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, for helping us set up a working headquarters; Mr. Robert Streeter of the Bucknell Publicity Office for suggestions on editorial matters; Mr. Donald Ross, a master in the art of photography, and a real trooper in rush calls; Mr. Weaver and Mr. Wicks of the Pittsburgh Printing Co. for their patience and fine work in printing the book; and lastly to Mr. R. J. Barton, of the Jahn and Ollier Engraving Co., a splendid gentleman and the answer to any editor's prayer.

Finally, and tho' perhaps a little unusual, my sincere thanks to the staff itself; a group of capable, cooperative folks, and dandy friends, to whom goes all the credit for this volume.

—The Editor

DR. WILLIAM C. BARTOL

In the dark winter days when it seemed that completion of yearbook was just an idle dream, there came via the mail the following contribution from Dr. William C. Bartol, Professor Emeritus and one of Bucknell's oldest and best loved sons. It seems fitting to end a book published primarily for seniors with a bit of verse which springs so spontaneously from the heart of a graduate who still cherishes his alma mater.

THE OLD GRAD'S SONG

By William C. Bartol

Dedicated to Dr. Paul G. Stolz

Wherever I wander or happen to be;
In Boston or China or sailing the sea,
The campus still beckons; I can't break the spell
That wove itself 'round me up there at Bucknell.

The campus still beckons. The hill and the dell,
Where life ran along at the sound of the bell;
I cannot forget; 'tis a bright sunny page
Unhampered, unfettered by fateful old age.

I still, in my dreams, hear the campus birds sing;
But let me be there when the college bells ring.
Yes, carry me back to the hill and the dell
The bright sunny spot they have labeled "Bucknell."
